RINO Sen. Lankford Will Permit Entry of Up to 5,000 Illegal Aliens Daily

Senate leaders on Sunday released the details of a long-awaited comprehensive border security bill, which also contains a substantial foreign aid component.

The discussions, led by Senators James Lankford (R-OK), Krysten Sinema (I-AZ), and Chris Murphy (D-CT), come after months of negotiations with the Biden regime, seeking to address both the ongoing crisis at the U.S. southern border and foreign policy commitments abroad.

The 370-page deal, according to Senator Patty Murray (D-WA), Chair of the Senate Appropriations Committee, claims it reflects weeks of good-faith negotiations, balancing domestic concerns with urgent international aid needs.

"As Ukraine runs low on ammunition to fend off Putin's brutal invasion, it is imperative we finally extend our support," Murray said in a statement.

As reported by The Gateway Pundit, the comprehensive $118.28 billion national security supplemental package, totaling $118.28 billion, allocates a staggering $60.06 billion to Ukraine in response to Russia's aggressive military actions.

In contrast, U.S. border security efforts are earmarked to receive $20.23 billion. This disparity in funding allocation has raised eyebrows and sparked a debate over the Senate's priorities at a time when domestic border security challenges persist.

According to Murray, the $118.28 billion national security supplemental package includes:

Below is the full list of these senators who are publicly committing to oppose the bill, so far:

1. Sen. Bill Hagerty (R-TN)
2. Sen. Eric Schmitt (R-MO)
3. Sen. JD Vance (R-OH)
4. Sen. Jim Risch (R-ID)
5. Sen. Josh Hawley (R-MO)
6. Sen. Katie Boyd Britt (R-AL)
7. Sen. Marco Rubio (R-FL)
8. Sen. Marsha Blackburn (R-TN)
9. Sen. Mike Lee (R-UT)
10. Sen. Mike Braun (R-IN)
11. Sen. Rand Paul (R-KY)
12. Sen. Rick Scott (R-FL)
13. Sen. Roger Marshall (R-KS)
14. Sen. Ron Johnson (R-WI)
15. Sen. Steve Daines (R-MT)
16. Sen. Ted Cruz (R-TX)
17. Sen. Tom Cotton (R-AR)
18. Sen. Tommy Tuberville (R-AL)
19. Sen. Ted Budd (R-NC) just announced his opposition to the bill

The Republican opposition appears unified in its stance against the uniparty bill, signaling tough negotiations ahead as the legislation makes its way through the Senate.

https://twitter.com/bennyjohnson/status/1757077756645355708?ref_src=twsrc%5Etfw%7Ctwcamp%5Etweetembed%7Ctwterm%5E1757077756645355708%7Ctwgr%5Ea90ac641d5822ba95ce1ee8a84a4056a2052458d%7Ctwcon%5Es1_c10&ref_url=https%3A%2F%2Fwww.thegatewaypundit.com%2F2024%2F02%2Fsenator-rand-paul-says-its-criminal-neglect-send%2F

> Still no response from Delta
>
> These airlines & the government owe answers to the passengers, pilots, and airline staff!
>
> Keep sending me your tips… DMs are open.
>
> Thanks for having me @foxandfriends / @kilmeade pic.twitter.com/iimjAFkTQ3
>
> — Ashley St. Clair (@stclairashley) December 21, 2023